Program Summary

Conservation Corps proposes AmeriCorps members will restore habitat, create trail, and respond to disasters to improve community health and safety in Polk County and Pottawattamie County, Iowa. At the end of the first program year, the AmeriCorps members will be responsible for restoring 7,500 acres of vital habitat and creating or improving 20 miles of trails and waterways. In addition, the AmeriCorps members will leverage an additional 100 community volunteers, who will be engaged in river clean-ups, rain garden installations and tree planting events. This program will focus on the CNCS focus areas of Environmental Stewardship and Disaster Services.
